Let Us Rise!

By PT/ICC Jennifer Allen-Prather

There are many definitions or situations that include the word "rise." When a judge comes out of his or her chambers into the court, the bailiff announces "Please rise," out of respect for the judge. When, in a wedding, the bride comes down the aisle, the minister asks the people to stand and rise out of joy and pride for this beautiful beginning for the new couple. (cont. pg. 4)

It seems like only a day or two ago we were getting ready for Christmas and the New Year. By the time this is printed we will already be headed into April. Spring, Easter, a time of change, new growth, resurrection and new life.

Shirley Mitchell, from Agape, tells of a queen who forgot her true identity. She knew she was a queen, but had no idea she was also a goddess. Although everything was going well in her kingdom, she fell into a great depression. "Why am I feeling like this?" she asked herself.

One by one she called forth all her ministers. They couldn't understand her difficulty and their suggestions fell on deaf ears. Finally, one day while she was walking in the garden, her gardener stepped forth and said, "Your majesty, your confusion is due to your desire for deeper understanding. You have planted a seed in your heart that is yearning to blossom."

"I know nothing of this seed," she said. "That may be true," remarked the gardener, "Nevertheless the seed is there." What seed have I planted?" The queen asked. "You have planted the seed of self-discovery. You are seeking your higher self," he said.

"But I am the queen. What higher rank can there be?" "There are realms that, as of yet, you know not of," was his answer. "You are seeking the inner kingdom."

As we sit in meditation with this little story, we might ask ourselves, what seeds have I planted, what realms am I seeking? Spring is the perfect time to reflect and accept our new growth. Are we ready to let those seeds find their expression? There comes a time when the seed will not be contained. Like the flower that finds the crack in the cement, it will seek the light. Let us have the courage to let our new growth burst forth with grace and ease, water it with love and tears of gratitude and celebrate its tender shoots.

It is glorious to surrender to the nature of the season. To let the seeds of the Higher Self burst forth; to allow them to blossom and lead us into realms of creativity, new life and freedom.

Have a wonderful Spring and a wonderful Easter.

Blessings to all,

Rev. Kayla Rose

Around the time of Easter, we are reminded of the spiritual and physical rising of Jesus, the Christ after his so-called "death." In the Holy Bible, Matthew 28:6 it states "But the angel said to the women, 'Do not be afraid, for I know that you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. He is not here; He has risen, just as He said! Come, see the place where He lay.'"

In our daily lives, we can pay respect to ourselves by rising to a higher standard. We can recognize our Inner Christ, who is our inner wisdom (or judge), our inner self-love (joy and self-love). When we rise to a higher consciousness, we are acknowledging and respecting the Maker of all, who is constantly our friend, supplier, and answers all of our prayers, whether we may recognize them or not.

There is a reason that there are so many poems and songs of praise to God. God raises us up when we recognize God within us and around us, everywhere. Where we put our focus, we receive the effects of that focus and if we are constantly in prayer (affirming good), praising God, acknowledging God and giving thanks to God, we receive unlimited blessings.

Let's rise up and tune in to our Inner Christ and live the life that Jesus came onto the earth to prove that "everyone is a living Christ."

Love and Light, Happy Easter!
