Honoring Our Father

By Rev. Kayla Rose Carroll

In the spring of 1981 my husband Chet and I purchased two baby kittens (not from the same litter) and we called them “unsisters.” They were such fun to watch as they romped through the house chasing, hissing and batting at each other. (cont. pg. 3)

God wisely provided a father and a mother to propagate life. Although we were gifted with an individual earthly father, we all originate from the One Infinite God Father. Therefore, we can rest secure in the knowledge that God loves, protects and leads us in the right direction to create a healthy prosperous, joy-filled life.

Maybe the earthly father we had didn't live up to what is expected from an earthly father. Maybe his way to show love was to be a workaholic, to provide material things for comfort and pleasure.

For those individuals who may never have had a present, participating dad, or who felt unloved, you can still grow through the heart ache. This Father's Day - visualize your dad in a different light.

Forgive all the aches in your heart. Release it into God's healing light and let it go. Bless him and release any remnant heartaches, disappointments and anger realizing he is one of God's beloved children and did the very best he knew how.

Let's remember when we forgive and when we let go and let God we have more freedom.

Hugs to all
Kayla Rose

Because I worked daytime and took T.I.C. classes at night, and my husband was retired and home most of the time, both Buttons and Little Bit became my husband’s kitties.

Buttons, at the age of 14 years, had been quite ill. One Sunday morning she came to me and wanted me to pick her up to be petted and loved. She then got down and went to my husband and he also gave her his love. She then wiggled wanting down from his lap and went down the hall into her room, got into her bed and quietly passed over.

Little Bit lived to almost 20 years. Although she had never slept on our bed, after Chet made his transition in September of 2000, Little Bit started sleeping with me every night. She also meditated with me. Each morning she would crawl up to my face and look into my eyes. If they were closed, she would go back to the foot of the bed and wait patiently. If my eyes were open she would meow softly, curl up next to me and start purring. It was a tough time for me and I believe that she instinctively knew that I needed her then and she took good loving care of me.

I experienced God through that little kitty. She taught me about unconditional love, play, joy, beauty, companionship, respect, acceptance, freedom and grace. She taught me about God – all at once in about two seconds, curled up next to me purring. I believe she was created just for me to teach me peace at a time I wasn’t sure I’d ever find peace again.

As I think back to the memories of Little Bit, I am filled with overflowing gratitude to God for sending her to me to teach me so many lessons – lessons of God’s bounty, goodness and love. Thank you Little Bit. Thank you wonderful God!

Blessings to all!
