HAPPY FATHER'S DAY, INNER CHRIST

JUNE 2025

By: Rev. Elaine Fuller-Zachey

Jesus is my Inner Christ. Mary and Joseph, His earthly parents, certainly come to mind when we think of Jesus. We don't find much detailed information about Joseph. The Holy Bible, New Testament presents him as a kind man who, when finding that his bride was pregnant, debated about how to quietly end the relationship in a way to prevent her from being stoned. We know that an angel visited Joseph directing him to marry her because the child was a Holy Child, so then, as the good father, he cared for Mary and Jesus, protecting and guiding them from danger into safety.

My own father was virtuous, dependable and fair. He was steadily employed as chief of the Erie Canal locks in our hometown of Fulton, New York. He took us, the three children, to the locks occasionally to show us what his work entailed. He barbecued chicken in our back yard on beautiful Sunday afternoons in the summer. He took the family to get apples in the autumn and we'd pick them ourselves. We'd come home with two jugs of apple cider, along with wonderful apples. One gallon went into the refrigerator, and one stayed on the back porch to ferment a little. Dad liked it that way, with a little kick to it.

Being a Christ, by Ann P. Meyer and Peter V. Meyer, refers to God as the Father. In the prayer, given to us by Jesus, we find "Our Father which art in Heaven, Hallowed be thy name", followed by strong claims to God. Here Jesus uses His masculine role of demanding and decision making. "All that the Father hath is mine", he states. He also illustrates the loving forgiveness of a father, including human, as well as God the Father, with his illustration of the Prodigal Son. The son leaves, squanders his inheritance and then returns to the father who forgives him. God the Father forgives. The lesson for us here is that we only need to ask and it is given.

Blessings,

Rev. Elaine Fuller-Zachey
