“We are all chemists in the laboratory of the Infinite.
What, then, shall we create?”

365 Science of Mind, A Year of Daily Wisdom, Ernest Holmes

I have often exclaimed, “If you want to know what you believe take a look at what you are experiencing. If you want to change your experience, you must change your belief.” We created our world and we can uncrate and recreate it as we desire.

Changing our belief about an incident or practice is can appear difficult. It seems to be solid, immoveable, unyielding. Often it is accompanied by habitual thinking. We might ponder, “Where am I to begin?” Choose to experiment in the laboratory of your spiritual awareness.

Begin with visualizing yourself as a part of Divine Presence. Place yourself in the stream of consciousness of God Mind. Affirm, “God in me, as me, is me!” Contemplate the perfection of Spirit as Wisdom, Intelligence, Power, Imagination, and Creativity. Turn resolutely from what you do not want. Allow the invisible presence, your I Am Self, to provide the solution and create your good. See the outcome you desire. Act as if it is so. Be the change you want to see happen. Repeat until the experience changes.

Emmet Fox, a new thought leader, declared, “Your present problem is your great opportunity.” The world is your workshop. Meeting the challenges of practical life is how we develop spiritually.

Why not join us for a Sunday service and share what you are creating?
