

Sand Ceremony

Props needed:

Sand of two colors

2 containers for the different colors of sand

1 larger bottle that has a wide mouth and a cork stopper.

Bride and Groom, having given yourselves to each other by your vows and the exchanging of rings. You have made a commitment to share your lives together.

These separate containers of sand represent each of you as individuals. Today you will each pour your sand into the one bottle, symbolizing your separate lives joining together. You'll see the separate colors of sand even as they mix and mingle together.

Together, you can support each other in developing and expressing your individual abilities and talents while creating a unity of purpose. May these sands join together in love with the ebb and flow of the tides. May you move through life's challenges knowing you are supported and loved by one another.
